Nature of this session perfectly reflects the everyday reality of winning teams - capturing and celebrating the success one moment in time.

Requirements for teams: Willingness for modeling, extra dress (ideally black) recommended, ready to get "floured" ;-)

Backstage requirement: Reasonably sized room, which will get floor full of flour. Cleaning service and equipment after the session is necessary.

Output: Individual portraits and/or smaller group photos. Digital files delivered within 24 hours, printed photos within few days.

Duration: ½ - 2 hours

Creative composition of transparent objects to highlight their inner beauty. Special set up will enable participants to build scenes limited only by their imagination – or by the imaginations of their peers! This photography technique is exploring details of everyday objects and will let teams understand how strong presence of light can accent small details otherwise unnoticed.

Workshop will help to build the communication within teams, to enhance their internal cooperation, improving the trust among each other and will boost creative seeing.

Participants will be able to bring their own objects or use those provided by pixien photography education and set up their own masterpieces to immediately see the results.

- create your own white world – individual creativity
- build your own image blindfolded, only by peer's instructions – team communication
- start the project and let it be finished by your team – team trust

Requirements for teams: Open minded approach, creativity unleashed. Bringing own transparent and semitransparent objects is optional but recommended.

Backstage requirement: No special requirement, regular (meeting) room will be sufficient. Own camera is not required. Pictures will be taken on pixien photography education cameras and later they will be distributed to teams. Team's main creative input will be to come up with creative compositions to get attention of their viewers!

Duration: 2-4 hours.

Human face - the most photographed subject on the planet! Anyone can take a snapshot but to get unique images requires thinking outside the box. This workshop will help participants to explore new methods and discover a whole new world of shooting faces. We will use different techniques that can deliver amazing portraits. Very important part of this workshop will be understanding of our own non-verbal communication and how to become aware of your body language to boost your confidence.

Great advantage of the workshop will be a team's unified photo portraits for a professional usage (website, LinkedIn, social media presentation, official documents)

- plastic bag / creating soft edges
- bokeh / lights on background
- view through the glass / play with different angles

Requirements for participants: Willingness for modeling

Backstage requirement: Reasonably sized room with big windows to get natural light, electric plug to experiment with artificial light

Own camera for participants is not required. Pictures will be taken on pixien photography education cameras and later they will be distributed to teams and individuals. However, participants are welcome to use their own cameras if they are willing experiment with own equipment.
